HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 29, 1883

THE following letter, addressed to the Editor of the Daily Press, appears in the Correspondence column of our contemporary of this morning's date:-AN EXPLANATION. Sir.—As there seems to be some misapprehension as to what I said in Council the other day with regard to the flogging of mendicants by the Magistrates-in Hongkong, I shall be glad if you will give this plained to the Council that there were two methods allowed by the ordinances for dealimprisonment and the other by flogging and deportation. I said I objected to the sends trates were in the habit of flogging mendicants before sending them out of the Colony. I am not prepared at the same Hongkong, 27th June, 1881. When we assert that the document given above makes matters worse than they were before, as against Mr Tonnochy, we merely echo the general opinion of residents here. While most men will sympathise with the Acting Colonial Tressurer in his endeavour to put himself right with the public regarding this melancholy muddle. will be able to congratulate him upon the manner in which that feat is sunposed to have been accomplished. When a fly tumbles for walks into a dish of molasses, there is some amusement to be derived in watching its movements; but when, after a sustained struggle, it gains the upper edge of the dish and fully reveals its hopelessly beameared condition, that fly calls forth the heartfelt pity of the onlooker. If such a fly were to turn round, while in this bedabbled state, and coolly tell you that the molasses, that it never had been near that saccharine paradise, and that there was nothing further from its mind than that anyone should ever draw the inference that it had been over head and ears in the ayrun,-the word of that fly would not be implicitly accepted. It must be admitted, however, that even Governor Hennessy himself could not have put the so-called "explanation" more carefully, even had he written the letter himself. Notwithstanding this Colonies, Aden, Egypt, Malta, and quality of ingeniousness in Mr. Tonnochy's reply, it must be falt that the The usual hours will be observed in closing case is a very despersie one, and one impossible to restore Turkish mis that will take years to useoutly buy. M. S. TONNOCHY.

There seems to be some misar hension as to what I said in Council other day with regard to the floggin mendicants by the Magistrates in Hongkong." On the very threshold of ms "explanation," Mr Tonnochy here again louds his readers to infer that mendicants were flogged by the Magistrates in House kong: otherwise words cease to have any meaning. Having stated the "two methods allowed by the ordinances for dealing with mendicants,"-viz., by fine and imprisonment, and by flogging and deportation-and said that he objected . to sending beggars to Gaol, he goes on, "This was the method [sending to Gaol hitherto followed by the Magistrates, and I believed I was the first to avail myself of the 'deportation' clause without the infliction of the flogging." Then follows-" I never said, nor did I intend to infer, that the other Magistrates were in the habit of flogging mendicants before sending them out of the Colony." Mr Tonnochy is "not prepared at the same time to state without looking at the records that the punishment of flogging mendicants has not been inflicted at all since the Ordinance in question was passed." Our Reporter's shorthand note of the exact words used by Mr Ton-2 p.m. -Auction of Household Furniture, nochy has unfortunately been mislaid. &c., at No. 15a, Queen's Road Central. but the report of our contemporary closely corresponds with our own. But this explanation does not appear to fulfil these conditions. Mr Tonnoch mow says he never intended even to infer At Chefoo, on the 18th June, Bulkeley that magistrates were in the habit of flogging mendicants. Well, the Governor almost at once congratulated Mr Tonnochy upon being "the first magistrate to reverse this flogging system. Subsequently, His Excellency again returns to the subject, and, having drawn that heart-softening contrast between the merciful government of China and the cruel magistrates of Hongkong, Sir John Hennessy concludes-"I am glad we are repealing it [the flogging clause]. and I congratulate my hon, friend on having adopted as a magistrate the more lenient course of not floggings or, as our Reporter puts it, "and co gratulated him on being the first to pu a stop to" flogging for mendicancy. There could not, therefore, have been the slightest doubt in Mr Tonnochy's mind that the Governor inferred in a very marked manner precisely what the Colonial Treasurer now says he never intended that any one should infer from ing with mendicants. One was by fine and his remarks. And yet Mr Tonnochy not only quietly permits this to be exing of prisoners to gaol for the reasons I pressed twice over, but complaisantly gave at the time. This was the method and silently swallows a great deal of hitherto followed by the magistrates, and | congratulation based solely upon this I believed I was the first to avail myself of erroneous inference! If such conduct June: 31,419 fbs. Congou, 89,880 fbs. the "deportation" clause without the in- can fairly be said to corroborate or fliction of the flogging. I still believe I strengthen Mr Tonnochy's denial train complicity with the Governor's gross blunder in Council, then all sense of right and wrong, truth and error, may as well be abandoned. It is matter for regret, especially in the present transitory time to state without looking at the records condition of things official, that a worthy that the punishment of flogging mendicants has not been inflicted at all since the Ordiofficial like Mr Tonnochy (whose record nance in question was passed.—Yours, &c., up to a certain point is that of an independent public servant) should have placed himself in so questionable a hosition. Say what he will, he gave the Governor the opportunity of making an unworthy thrust at certain worth magistrates now dead and gone, wante he lifted up no voice in their defences He gulped down the mellifluous references to himself made by His Excellency, and that under what he now himself contends to be a false pretence. And even his halting and unsatisfactory disavowal of all this is not given to the public until the fifth day after the debate in Council took place. It may be add that Mr Tonnochy has given us no thformation as to who told him that he had no alternative but that the mendicants "must receive the corporal

An unqualified admirer of the Governor's the way of faithfully putting the same friends, and, if he could manage it, the which we shall be glad to exhibit at this office to any of our constituents. It is a proof of the Daily Press report of the Governor's Census speech at the meeting of the Legislative Council of June 3rd, so marked as to show the changes made in the same by the viceregal hand before it found its place in the Government Gazette. The document is an amusing and interesting one and will repay inspection.

Touching the movement, recently noticed. amongst the natives, it may be remarked that the Chinese have ever been found strates this fact. At the same time, we it may be sufficient to say, -Muito tesa arthink it is just possible that this very fact rebenta a corda. has engendered the belief that diseases of the eye are more prevalent in China than anywhere else. This opinion, that disorders of the eye prevail to a much larger extent than elsewhere, may be based more solid foundation than observation—observatoo, made under the exceptional conditions to which we have referred. Now we have some statistics before us that are strictly reliable, and the results to which they point may go a little way towards supporting this view of the subject. ing from ten to sixty, but chiefly from sult,-that out of that large number four only had lost an eye, the opposites of which only was there any evidence of previous disease, indicated by the presence of slight cicatrices, not, however, in any way interfering with vision. Such figures would tend, we fancy, to show that diseases of the eye do not attain that high percentage among Chinese which it is commonly supposed they do. Less than a half per cent. had lost one and under three-quarters per cent, bore evidence of such disease. It is not by any means intended to prove by this that the means suggested for alleviating such ailments are not to be sincerely welcomed from whatever source the attempt £500,000. may come. Far from it. We merely point out the fact that the readiness of the Chinese to consult European physicians on eye diseases may have engendered the belief that this class of disease is far more general in China than it really is. If, after making a Nautical Assessor. The chief mate of the allowance for the peculiar circumstances of the observations already made on this subject, the recognised medical authorities can show that the general opinion is well founded, then an additional reason will be furnished for-the prosecution of the good work lately suggested by some of the sale of the Wai Sing Lottery Farm still occupies public attention both here and the neighbouring colony which it more particularly interests. Wong Wo, the Chinaman who was, "detained" last Saturday, still under arrest and is not likely to be relieved until things are definitely settled. An unexpected turn has been given to all the affairs connected with this case by a movement amongst the parties which was not contemplated, even by outsiders who have been watching the game. After the new syndicate which Mr Pitman had beaten up here had made the offer to which we referred in a previous issue, -to take over the Farm at the full price at which it was sold at the state auction—some others came in, and volunteered to take it over at the same price. Two Macaense Companies offered to pay the maximum price $1,015,000, one of them being virtually the Old Farmer and his remaining friends, and the other a session similar to that agreed upon by the his financial camp. THE Saigon Ere Nouvelle of the 11th instant says-"On the 29th May the French steamer Saltee, one of the fleet belonging to the house of Roque, of Saigon (the subsidised Company for transport in the interior of the Colony), saw along the coast of Annam, in the bay of Quan-Ngai, lat. 15.10 N., a disabled steamer. The first duty of a captain, under such circumstances, was to go and render assistance to the vessel standing in need of it. This was not done. Why? We do not know, but we hope the Roque firm will condescend to furnish to others than ourselves explanations sufficient to justify the conduct of M. ---, captain of the Saltee. In all probability the vessel in question is the British steamer Elgin, reported from Hongkong as lost. The German steamer Octava and the Pernambuco have left, and, following the coast, may be able to render assistance to the castaways. Will they be still in time! We will keep our readers informed of what transpires in respect to this sail affair, as to which we cannot express an opinion to-day." As the Elgin was lost on the Bombay Shoal it cannot have been that vessel which the Saltee saw, unless there has been a strange. mistake somewhere, and neither the Pernambuco nor Octava make any mention in their reports of having seen a disabled vessel.—N. She was under the charge of Pilot Thomas H. Barber. A dense fog prevailed at the time. Captain Cobb, feeling the jar and the grating on the keel, at once assumed full control over the vessel, and issuing his commands. ordered the engineer to back the engines at full speed. His orders being complied with, the steamer escaped from her perilous situation, and rode safely her anchor at the Pacific Mail Dock A force of divers was set at work to make thorough examination of the keel and other parts of the vessel below the waterline. After an investigation which lasted upwards of an hour, they reported that the only damage sustained was a slight grazing or abrasion of the keel in the forward par of the steamer. The damage was merely nominal, and did not interfere with the sailing qualities of the vessel. At the time she grazed she was drawing 18 feet 8 inches of water forward, and 23 feet 6 inches aft. THE CHINA REVIEW.

continuances of Notes & Queries on ful. To it will be relegated from time China and Japan, has induced the publish- to time such items of information, lists, ers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly modified in certain details.

taining about 60 octavo pages, occasionally DIRECTORY, applications for enrolment illustrated, with lithographs, photographs, into which we are now ready to receive. woodcuts, &c., should the papers published demand, and the circulation justify, such extra matter.

The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance. The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Manners and Customs. Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern Archipelego and the "Far East" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, French, German Spanish, Italian or Portuguese, are admissible. Endeavours are made to present a resumé in each number of the cor ints of the most recent works bearing on Thinese matters. Great attention is also paid to the Review Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concerning the matter in band. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

The China Review for July and August, 1875; is at hand. It says that forty-two St. Joseph's (R.C.) Church, Garden essays were sent in to compete for the best paper on the advantages of Christianity for the development of a State. - All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review. It is a sixty paged, bi-monthly, repertory of what scholars are ascertaining about China. The lecture on Chinese Poetry in this volume is alone worth the price of the Review. Address China Review. Hongkong.-Northern. Christian Advocate (U.S.)

Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review :- " This is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached us from Hongkong, where it has been set on foot as in some respects a continuation of Notes and Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful sorial a year or two ago has been much regretted in Europe as well as in China. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided-extremely desirable; and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated, and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. In a paper on Dr. Legge's She King, by the Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of honour is deservedly given, an excellent summary is presented of the chronological problems and arguments involved in connexion with this important work. Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet-statesman of the eleventh century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bewra, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of
